Neither East nor West wants or can afford to have the cold war break into a shooting war in which all the horrible weapons developed by modern science would be brought into play.

Since the two adversaries must realize by now that a nuclear holocaust would wipe out civilization as we know it, many Western observers believe the current impasse at the Paris meeting of Big Four chiefs of state will end short of actual warfare.

If American intelligence planes can penetrate Russian defenses over a period of years and return with vital secrets, these sources point out, there is reason to believe that substantial numbers of Allied planes and rockets carrying nuclear warheads could, within minutes, reach important Soviet targets from bases ringing the Iron Curtain.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev must be well aware of this fact, our experts feel, and they are not looking for the Russian war machine to unleash an all-out rocket attack on the West in the pres-

Opinions Of Other Editors Employment Still Could Be Better

President Eisenhower had reason to be gratified in announcing this week that nearly two million more Americans had jobs in April than in March of this year. And that the gross national production now exceeds a rate of $500 billion a year.

But there are some other sides to the employment situation about which the nation cannot be comfortable. The reduction in the number of unemployed was about 500,000, meaning that the greater part of the new employment was absorbed in putting to work young people or others not previously in the labor force. The proportion of those looking for jobs still is around 5 per cent.

The amount of individual tragedy in this statistic is hard to determine. But it is a sharpening factor in any reaction to the veto of the depressed areas bill which President Eisenhower has just conveyed to Congress.

Social Security Guide

Q. My wife and I receive a combined social security check. She expects to visit our daughter for several months and will be away from home. Can our check be divided and my wife's part be sent to her?

A. Yes, it can. Ask your wife to contact your social security office and arrangements will be made for her to receive a sepearate check at your daughter's address. However, she should be sure to notify the social security office when she returns home.

Q. I am planning a tour of the West this Summer. What can I do about my social security checks while I am away from home?

A. If a responsible person will be at your present address during your absence, he might He prefered atomic lectures to keep your checks for you. If you prefer, you can have your checks mailed to your bank and deposited to your account. For information about this arrangement, contact your social security office.

Q. I receive social security checks as guardian of my brother's child. I will be traveling for several months. What should I do?

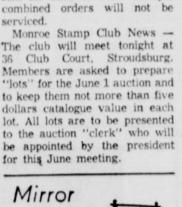

A. You should contact your social security office at once and arrange for someone else to receive the checks during your absence.

O. When I moved I notified the post office. Now all my mail except my social security check comes to my new address. What is the matter? A. The matter is you should have notified your social security office too. The post office delivers social security checks to the address printed on them. You were not at that address so the check was returned. It

Studies Show Bulk Milk Best Buy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Two government reports were submitted to the State Milk Control Commission yesterday showing that consumers get a price break when milk is sold in gallon containers. The reports were submitted by Harold Kohn, attorney for Country Maid Dairies, a Delaware corpor-

The commission accepted them as evidence over the objections of John Martin, attorney for the Milk Distributors Assn. of the Philadelphia Area, Inc. The association represents all the major distributors in the district

The continued hearing was on Dairy Maid's petition asking that the commission set a price for milk sold by the gallon in Pennsylvania. Prices are now set on contain ers up to quart-size.

One of Kohn's exhibits was a bulletin of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, issued last March. showing that in Boston milk is sold at 271/2 a quart and 79 to 81

cents a gallon, His other exhibit was a federal milk order saying that the consumer saves two to five cents a quart when buying milk in gallon

This shows that throughout the country where the gallon jug is permitted to be sold, it substantially reduces the price of milk, Kohn told the commission

Spokesmen for the distributors have said they do not object to gallon containers as such, but that their chief interest is in what they call realistic pricing. A few weeks ago Miss Anne X Alpern, Pennsylvania's attorney general, appeared at a commission hearing and came out for milk sold in the bulk in order to give the consumers some relief from high

The tomato sauce looked beautiful against my lilac colored dress, but did fade enough under my ministrations to be not too obvious when I arose to speak. Anyway, people are kind-and I am sure that in the audience must surely have been at least a few women who, on occasion, have spattered themselves with sauce and could understand by predicament. Anyway, my dinner had been so excellent, and served in such a bright, gay, setting, I'd gladly do it over and > over again! Split Rock Lodge entertained the Miss Pocono Mountains contestants royally on Saturday afternoon, with the judges (of which I was one) having an excellent opportunity to really meet the girls and become acquainted. Let me tell you, all four were absolutely charming. Joan Hinsdale, our new representative to the state pageant at Westchester, is a delightful girl, with a keen sense of fun, perfect poise, a vast number of interests, and the ability to converse intelligently > upon any subject that is introduced. William Davlin, state secretary of Commerce was a judge in the afternoon when bathing suits were modeled, along with Ted Berger of Ted Berger Associates, Allentown, and myself. Ted is a former newspaper man who kept us fascinated by his acounts of the people he has met during the covering of particularly interesting stories.

> In the college Saturday night I sat next to Mrs. Robert Christenberry, whose husband, the postmaster of New York, was a judge. She is as charming as she is lovely, and proved herself quite an exceptional wife by remarking every now and then to her husband, 'Isn't THAT woman charming? . . . Isn't that face fascinating? . . . My, but she's shapely, isn't she?'

> Mrs. Christenberry was gowned in black and mink, and showed a great deal of interest in Rod MacLeod's camera. Mac, seated next to me, was on assignment from the Daily Record. Mrs. Christenberry says she isn't too successful a photographer, but had been practicing with her Polaroid so as to be skilled enough to record Sunday's most important event-the christening of the Christenberry grandson, Sally's infant.

This I learned from the contest: women and men don't see exactly eye to eye when it comes to evaluating the feminine figure in swim aparel. My women friends preferred a figure I personally rated highest-but the men had selected my second choice. Further than this I will not pursue the subject-except to say maybe the girls who are shopping for swim suits these days in our Wyckoff sportswear department should not ask Mother for the last word but DAD!

Fixed Raffle For Hardluck Golfer

The old duffer. Three-Putt Pete had been having a rough time. He hadn't broken 100 in months, he hit a buried rock and ing only three men, but gave up broke his favorate wedge, and to top it all, he went for three weeks four hits in the ninth before he without winning a locker room game of gin rummy.

It got so bad that the members of his club decided to change New York his luck by holding a raffle, that was rigged so Pete would win. Cleveland The members borrowed Pete's hat and put 100 numbered slips in it. However, all the slips had the same number, "4." Mass (5), James (7) and How-The plan was to have everyone remain silent when the number "4" was announced as the winner, leaving Pete to collect the W-Bell (5-1). L-Short (2-2).

The numbers were drawn and "4" was called as the winner. eto one said a word, not even Pete. "Four is the winner," the raffle chairman said again. Still no

Fearing that maybe something went wrong, one of the fixers asked Pete what his number was.

Q. You have mentioned the Dow-Jones averages and the Standard & Poor's indexes as methods of measuring stock market prices. But they are still somewhat of a mystery to me. Can you explain how they are compiled and what they really measure?

A. All stock averages and in-

Intended of the market - to indicate stock prices

There are William A. Doyle a flock of different averages, all of which are calculated somewhat differently. The best known are the Dow-Jones "30 Industrials" and the Standard & Poor's "500."

Both of these are calculated according to the market prices of stocks every day at 11 a.m. 1 p.m., 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.the close of trading.

The Dow Industrial average is compiled by adding up the prices of 30 different stocks traded on the New York Stock Exchange and then using a "divisor." Originally, the divisor was 30. But the people who compile the average have, over the years, adjusted the advisor downward everytime there was a split or a major stock dividend in one of the stocks used in the average.

The divisor is now 3.569.

Prosperity Seen On Rise

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)-Leading industrialists were pictured yesterday as believing prosperity will advance thorough the middle of 1961 without appreciable inflation.

Nearly 100 members of the Business Advisory Counril, including the heads of many of the country's greatest corporations, were described by Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller as voicing general confidence that production and income will keep rising.

The Council met in closed session with Mueller and other government officials. Mueller and Council Chairman Ralph J Cordiner, board chairman of General Electric Co., briefed reporters afterward.

Every industry except onemajor household appliancesforesaw bigger output and higher profits this year than in rec ord-breaking 1959, Mueller said.

MATERIALS with DESIGN . . . to help Create one of this Year's Finest Additions to the POCONOS .

The handsome interior of the Reception Office in the new Swim 'n Sun Building at Penn Hills Lodge is enhanced many-fold by the luxury-look of hardwood paneling supplied by the R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. The Natural Beauty of this wood adds great decorative charm to this interesting paneling—a charm which is perfectly protected by the 'family-proof' Invisible top-coating. A wealth of success and good luck to Penn Hills Lodge from the R. C. Cramer Lumber Company.

A Tile Setter's Dream ... the New SWIM'n SUN INDOOR SWIMMING POOL at Penn Hills Lodge ...

The fact that tile setting is an accomplished art is reflected by the walls and floors of Penn Hills New Swim 'n Sun Indoor Swimming Pool. Throughout the pool area, the dressing rooms and the entrance to the building, the presence of carefully selected and precision set tile is evident. Sal Pappalardo is proud to have been the one selected to perform this highly skilled task and wishes to express his hopes for continued success to Penn Hills Lodge.

SWIM 'n SUN INDOOR SWIMMING POOL

This great plant (pictured left) aithough concealed from the general public, is responsible for the comfort of those who play in Penn Hills Indoor Swimming Pool. Regulating water temperature, controlling humidity and conditioning the air are its functions, aside from supplying heat for the Swim 'n Sun Building. This apparatus is capable of changing the air within the pool area 10 times an hour, though the temperature be 10° below zero outside. Installed and supplied by R. J. Groner, it is truly an intricate and capable piece of machinery.

THE CONCEALED POWER THAT LIGHTS THE STAGE FOR PLEASURE

... Electricity

Throughout the Swim 'n Sun building at Penn Hills Lodge are the wires that carry light and power which nearly everything in the building depends upon. Pictured here are but a few of the fixtures, the visible part of our work, installed by us. Our part in the construction of Penn Hills Swim 'n Sun Indoor Swimming Pool was indeed a pleasure and source of satisfaction.

Best of Luck and Good Wishes on the Completion of Penn Hills INDOOR SWIMMING POOL---

A pool designed and engineered with imagination is a great asset to any establishment. The pool shown above is the Swim 'n Sun Indoor Pool at Penn Hills Lodge. We have carefully planned this pool so that is attractive and still maintains a great degree of practibility and utility. To be able to construct a pool such as this in these magnificient surroundings was indeed a pleasure.
